HISTORICAL NOTE

Amherst College bears the name not of an individual founder or promoter, nor of a religious denomination or dogma, but of the town in which it is located. The fact is significant. From its early years Amherst was the home of liberal-minded men who desired for their children better educational advantages than could be afforded by the old-time district schools. Through the plodding decades succeeding the close of the Revolution, however, this desire had to remain unrealized, until in 1812 the people of the town, among whom was a goodly number of college graduates, took steps to found a school of higher education, the Amherst Academy, a school of much distinction and usefulness in its day, which received its charter in 1816, the same year in which the earlier founded Hopkins Academy in Hadley was incorporated. From Amherst Academy, dedicated to the promotion of "morality, piety, and religion," and to "the instruction of youth in the learned languages," came in quite limited process of time Amherst College, whose immediate object, as expressed by Noah Webster at the laying of the corner-stone, was "that of educating for the gospel ministry young men in indigent circumstances, but of hopeful piety and promising talents." The address from which these words are quoted was delivered August 9, 1820. From this date the erection of the first building, the present South College, proceeded apace, aided by heartily given contributions of money, labor, and materials, both from Amherst and several surrounding towns; so that on September 18, 1821, the building completed, exercises of dedication and inauguration were held in the church building of the First Parish, now College Hall, and Amherst College, with a president, two professors, and forty-seven students, was on the following day opened for its growing and honorable service to the community, the commonwealth, and the world. From the beginning its ideals have been of the highest, tolerating no limitations. "I should be wholly averse," wrote the first President in his letter of acceptance, "to becoming united with any institution which proposes to give a classical education inferior to that given in any of the colleges in New England."

After two adverse votes in the Legislature the College finally secured a charter from the Commonwealth, the date of its approval being February 21, 1825. A number of students in the intervening classes, being compelled to graduate without a degree, received their degrees from Union College, on suitable certificates from Amherst. Of the charter just mentioned a few words are all that the present sketch permits, or that are pertinent to present conditions. As to the Board of Trustees, it was "provided, . . . that the number of members (including the president of said college for the time being, who shall ex officio be one of said corporation) shall never be greater than seventeen"; and as to keeping that number good, it was in the same section "provided, further, that as vacancies shall occur in said Board, they shall be so filled that the said Board shall as soon as may be, and forever after, consist of seven clergymen and ten laymen." To legislate for so long ahead, however, is hazardous. "Forever after" is a good while. It does not take account of changes in conditions and in the spirit of the times. And such changes came, radical and far-reaching, long before the forever was well under way. Accordingly, in 1916, when it was felt that the large proportion of clergymen to laymen no longer adequately represented the alumni body, this stipulation of having seven clergymen on the Board was repealed.

The first five vacancies that occurred in the Board were filled by vote of the Legislature; but when, fifty years after the founding of the college, the number of alumni had become sufficient to warrant it, the alumni were empowered to choose five members of the Board, electing one each year as their terms of service expired. Regarding instructors and students, it was enacted (Section 6), "That no instructor in said college shall ever be required by the trustees to profess any particular religious opinions as a test of office; and no student shall be refused admission to or denied any of the privileges, honors or degrees of said college on account of the religious opinions he may entertain."

The charter contains a curious section (Section 7), which is here mentioned for its historic and perhaps we may say providential interest. "And be it further enacted," the passage naïvely runs, "That if it shall hereafter appear to the Legislature of this Commonwealth lawful and expedient to remove Williams College to the town of Amherst, and the President and Trustees of Williams College shall agree so to do, the Legislature shall have full power to unite Williams and Amherst Colleges into one university at Amherst, on such terms and conditions and under such government as shall be agreed upon by the majority of a board of seven commissioners, of whom," etc. This enactment was made, it will be noted, four years after the first President of Amherst had resigned the presidency of Williams in order to come to this, as he deemed, more suitable town for a college, and brought with him fifteen students from Williamstown. The question of this transfer to Amherst was for some years a quite acute one, not agitated by the people of Amherst but by the ministers and others in the towns of western Massachusetts, and discussed, so far as can be ascertained, without any acrimony between the colleges. The providential interest intimated above lies in the fact that the union of the colleges was not effected. Both colleges, we may be sure, are the better for it. (J. F. G.)

The general government of the College is vested in the Board of Trustees. Its immediate direction is vested in the Faculty, who are empowered by the Trustees to determine the topics and order and method of study, and to make such rules as may be deemed necessary for the best regulation of the College.

The corporate name of the institution is "The Trustees of Amherst College."

We append here a list of the Presidents, with a few items of their lives and services.

DEGREES

BACHELOR OF ARTS

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred upon students of Amherst College who have satisfactorily met the requirements prescribed for that degree. The plan of studies leading to the Degree of Bachelor of Arts is arranged on the basis of a four years' course to be pursued by students in residence at the College.

Plans are offered, however, which enable candidates for the degree to complete the course of study in less than four years either wholly at Amherst or in part at other colleges. (See page 61.)

Diplomas are graded as rite, cum laude, magna cum laude, or summa cum laude, according to scholarship.

Summa cum laude rank is fixed at ninety-three per cent, magna cum laude at eighty-eight per cent, cum laude at eighty per cent, and rite at seventy per cent.

A detailed statement of the curriculum will be found on page 65.

MASTER OF ARTS

The Degree of Master of Arts is conferred upon Bachelors of Arts of Amherst College and of other colleges that confer the Bachelor of Arts degree under conditions equivalent to those at Amherst College, who, having spent one year in residence at Amherst, have satisfactorily met the requirements prescribed for that degree.

For a detailed statement of these requirements see page 65.

ADMISSION

All correspondence concerning admission to the Freshman Class should be addressed to the Secretary of the Faculty.

While scholarship is the primary basis for admission, in all cases character, ability, scholastic history and general achievement will be taken into consideration in making any selective choice.

No student will be admitted to registration in Amherst College who has not been successfully vaccinated, or who is unwilling to submit to such vaccination by the College Physician within three months after admission.

SUBJECT REQUIREMENTS

The subjects which may be presented in satisfaction of the requirements for admission to the Freshman Class, together with the number of units at which each is valued are given in the following list. The basis of valuation is one unit for a course pursued for a school year, with the understanding that a satisfactory year's work in any subject cannot be accomplished in less than one hundred and twenty sixty-minute hours or their equivalent.

	Subject	Credit

ANCIENT LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT

To satisfy the degree requirement, candidates who present at entrance the full credit for four years of Latin continue Latin for at least one year in College.

A limited number of students may be admitted who present entrance credit for three years of Latin together with either one unit in advanced mathematics or a third year of a second foreign language. Those who are admitted on this basis to the Freshman class must obtain in their first year in College a passing mark in the ancient language studied during their Freshman year. Otherwise they may not expect to continue as students at Amherst College.

Those who present only three years of Latin at entrance may meet the requirement of the College in ancient languages as follows:

- (1) Those having credit for Latin, three years, prose authors, may (a) take at least two years of Latin in College, one of which is a course in Vergil; or (b) if the Dean of Freshmen, after consultation with the departments of Greek and Latin, so advises, discontinue Latin and begin the study of Greek, continuing that subject for three years.
- (2) Those having credit for Latin, three years, poetry authors, may (a) continue in Latin, taking the course of the Freshman year in that subject, and either pass an entrance examination in third year Latin, prose authors, before the beginning of the Sophomore year, or secure credit for Sophomore Latin in College; or (b) if the Dean of Freshmen, after consultation with the departments of Greek and Latin, so advises, discontinue Latin and begin the study of Greek, continuing that subject for three years.

Candidates who present entrance credit for three years of Greek may meet the requirement in ancient languages by taking Greek for at least one year in College.

It should be noted that all such adjustments are made subject to the general requirement of fifteen units for admission and twenty year courses in College.

APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION

A form of application for admission will be sent by the Secretary of the Faculty to anyone desiring it. This form when properly filled out indicates the subjects which the candidate expects to present for admission and the manner in which these credits are to be secured.

The application when filed with the Secretary of the Faculty must be accompanied by a registration fee of ten dollars and a photograph of the applicant.

Candidates for admission are urged to file their applications before the beginning of the last year of the preparatory course in order that the plan of studies for this last year may be made in conformity with the requirements for admission to Amherst College.

PRESENTATION OF CREDITS

The full fifteen units of credit should be completed in June. The number of new Freshmen admitted each year is limited. Candidates should not depend on summer work to complete their credits for there may be no room for them in the quota. Credits may be presented by College Entrance Examination Board examinations, Regents' examinations if the grade is seventy-five ¹ per cent or better, or by acceptable school records at accredited schools.

In case College Entrance Examination Board examinations are taken in June, the "Scholastic Aptitude Test" should also be taken.

COLLEGE ENTRANCE EXAMINATION BOARD

Examinations of June 20-25, 1932

The College Entrance Examination Board will hold examinations in June 1932 at nearly 400 points in the United States and abroad.

A list of places at which examinations will be held will be published about March 1, 1932. Requests that the examinations be held at particular points should be transmitted to the Secretary of the College Entrance Examination Board not later than February 1, 1932.

Detailed definitions of the requirements in all examination subjects are given in a circular of information published annually about December 1. Upon request to the Secretary of the College Entrance Examination Board a single copy of this document will be sent to any teacher without charge. In general, there will be a charge of twenty-five cents, which may be remitted in postage.

All candidates wishing to take these examinations must make application by mail to the Secretary of the College Entrance Examination Board, 431 West 117th Street, New York City. Blank forms for this purpose will be mailed by the Secretary of the College Entrance Examination Board to any teacher or candidate upon request by mail.

The applications and fees of all candidates who wish to take the examinations in June 1932 should reach the Secretary of the Board not later than the dates specified in the following schedule:

For examination centers:

In the United States east of the Mississippi River or on the Mississippi	May 30, 1932
In the United States west of the Mississippi River or in Canada	May 23, 1932
Outside of the United States and Canada, except in Asia	May 9, 1932
In China or elsewhere in the Orient	April 25, 1932

Every application for examination which reaches the Secretary of the Board on or before the scheduled date should be accompanied by an examination fee of $10.00, which may be remitted by postal order, express order, or draft on New York to the order of the College Entrance Examination Board.

An application which reaches the Secretary later than the scheduled date will be accepted only upon payment of $5.00 in addition to the regular examination fee.

When a candidate has failed to obtain the required blank form of application the regular examination fee will be accepted if the fee arrive not later than the date specified above and if it be accompanied by a memorandum with the name and address of the candidate, the exact examination center selected, and a list of the subjects in which the candidate is to take the Board examinations.

Candidates who have failed to file applications for examination may be admitted by the supervisor to all examinations except the Scholastic Aptitude Test upon payment of a fee of $5.00 in addition to the regular examination fee.

Such candidates should present themselves at the beginning of the period of registration. They will receive from the supervisor blank forms of application which must be filled out and transmitted to the Secretary of the College Entrance Examination Board.

In order to exhibit their tickets of admission, and to obtain seats in the examination room, candidates should report for a morning examination at 8:45 and for an afternoon examination at 1:45. An examination will close for candidates admitted late at the same time as for other candidates. The examinations will be held in accordance with the time, Standard Time or Daylight Saving Time, observed in the local public schools.

No candidate will be admitted to the Scholastic Aptitude Test late, that is, after 9:00 A. M.

Candidates presenting credit in any of their subjects by College Board Examinations should take also the Scholastic Aptitude Test. This test, which will be held on the morning of Saturday, June 25, 1932, may be taken upon the completion of the school course or at the end of the third year of secondary school work. If the Scholastic Aptitude Test is taken in connection with other examinations no additional fee is required.

A week or more in advance of the Scholastic Aptitude Test each candidate who is to take the test will receive a booklet containing, with explanations and instructions, a specimen test, the blank spaces of which are to be filled in by the candidate. In order to secure admission to the test the candidate must present not only his ticket of admission but also this booklet with the spaces filled in as requested. The supervisor will admit no candidate to the examination room without this booklet.

In Latin, Greek, Mathematics, and the second foreign language the final examination in the subject must be taken not earlier than the June of the year preceding the year of entrance to College.

ADMISSION CREDITS BY REGENTS' EXAMINATIONS

Examinations given by the Regents of the State of New York are accepted towards entrance to the extent to which they cover the requirements for admission to Amherst College, provided the Regents' grade is seventy-five¹ per cent or higher. In Latin, Mathematics, and the second foreign language the final examination in the subject must be taken not earlier than the June of the year preceding the year of entrance to College. The candidate must make special request of the State Department of Education to forward to the Secretary of the Faculty, as soon as possible after the January examinations of the last year of preparation are recorded, its official record slip giving all the Regents' grades then on record. Immediately after the June examinations, the candidate for entrance in the following September should send an unofficial report of his grades in the June examinations to the Secretary of the Faculty; he should also make special request of the State Department of Education to have the final record forwarded to the Secretary of the Faculty.

ADMISSION WITHOUT EXAMINATION

(a) From Schools in New England.—From preparatory schools which have been approved by the New England College Entrance Certificate Board certificates of fitness to enter College are received in place of entrance examinations. A preliminary certificate should be filed immediately after the close of the first half of the final year of preparation, and a supplementary certificate at the close of the school year in June.

¹ In examinations taken June 1930 or earlier a grade of seventy per cent may be acceptable.

In mathematics no certificate is acceptable unless some branch of the work has been pursued or reviewed within the two years preceding the date of the student's admission to College. In a modern foreign language which is to be continued during Freshman year no certificate is acceptable unless the work has been studied or reviewed during the school year or the summer preceding the date of the student's admission to College. In the case of candidates who present more than one modern language, certificates are acceptable provided at least one of these languages has been pursued or reviewed during the school year or summer preceding the date of admission to College. Certificates for advanced mathematics are accepted with the understanding that in such cases the candidate is required to take a year of mathematics in College. In general the amount of work required in each subject is indicated in the detailed description given later under subjects for examinations.

(b) From Schools Outside of New England.—Candidates from approved schools outside of New England may secure credit for admission without examination in those subjects in which their school record in the judgment of the Committee on Admission warrants it. It will be the general policy of the Committee to accept for credit without examination only such records as are at least as high as the school's own "certifying grade." Records will be considered from schools which are on the approved list of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States, or the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Middle States and Maryland, unless exception be made. In determining the eligibility of other schools to the approved list the College follows in general the method of the New England College Entrance Certificate Board.

A credit by school record implies the ability of the student to pass any reasonable examination in the subject, such as that given by the College Board (sixty per cent required) or by the Regents (seventy-five ¹ per cent required). Consequently any student who has tried such an examination and failed to attain the required standard can not be credited in that subject until he has done such additional work as will satisfy the Committee on Admissions, or has passed a subsequent examination.

The reports of school records are made on forms printed by the College and furnished to principals of approved schools. These reports supply the Committee on Admission with such information regarding the scholastic record and character of the candidate as to enable it to decide what credits may be granted toward admission without examination. A preliminary report blank will be sent in January to principals for those of their pupils who have already filed with the Secretary their applications for admission in the following September. This preliminary report should be returned as soon as possible after the first half of the school year; so that the candidate may be notified as early as possible as to his status at that time with regard to admission. A final decision will be made after the receipt of a supplementary report at the close of the school year.

The full fifteen units of credit should be completed in June. In mathematics no school record will be accepted for credit unless some branch of this subject has been studied within the two years preceding the date of the student's admission to College. School records in advanced mathematics will be accepted for credit only with the understanding that the student is required to take a year of mathematics in College. No school record will be accepted for credit in any modern language which is to be continued during Freshman year unless it has been studied or reviewed during the school year or summer preceding the date of admission to College.

ANTICIPATION OF COLLEGE COURSES BY EXAMINATION

Students who have completed in their preparatory schools or in a Junior College studies corresponding to courses given in Amherst College may obtain credit for such courses by examination in accordance with the following rules:

1. The proposed credit must be in excess of the entrance requirements.

2. It must be presented at or before the time of admission to College.

3. Advanced credit in modern foreign languages and mathematics may be obtained by College Board examination in June, provided the grade is seventy per cent or better.

4. Special examinations for obtaining other advanced credits will be given in September upon application and payment of an examination fee of five dollars.

5. All applications for examinations in September for advanced credit must be filed before September first with the Secretary of the Faculty.

6. Credit thus obtained may be used:

- a. In anticipation of required courses.

- b. To count toward graduation in three years. (See page 61.)

Such credit may not be used to reduce the number of courses in any year nor as a substitute for a delinquency subsequently incurred.

7. Students will not be allowed advanced credit by certificate or examination for work done privately or by correspondence.

ADMISSION FROM OTHER COLLEGES OR INSTITUTIONS OF COLLEGIATE RANK

All correspondence concerning admission by transfer should be addressed to the Recorder.

To be eligible for transfer the candidate must meet the following requirements:

1. His credits must satisfy the full entrance requirements of Amherst College, including the four-year Latin requirement. It may be necessary to use some of his college credits for this purpose.

2. He must have completed creditably the work of at least one year in an institution of collegiate rank, and his general average at the institution he is leaving must correspond to or be better than the Amherst diploma average of seventy per cent.

3. He must present a statement of honorable dismissal.

A candidate for transfer should write to the Recorder as early as possible, indicating in full the credits, both entrance and college, that he intends to present, sending also a catalogue of the institution from which he wishes to transfer with the courses marked which he has taken and is taking; and he should also give the grades he has received to date in each college subject.

As soon as possible after the close of the college year he should send to the Recorder the official transcript of his record at the institution he is leaving, showing (a) his entrance credits, (b) his college credits, and (c) an honorable dismissal. In order to be definitely enrolled as an applicant for transfer he should send at this time the regular registration fee of ten dollars, in the form of a check payable to "Trustees of Amherst College."

He will be credited for all work equivalent to courses in Amherst College, but such credit is regarded as provisional at the time of his admission, and will not be considered as final, nor will he be given final enrollment, until he has satisfactorily completed one year's work at Amherst.

Candidates for admission by transfer are admitted only at the beginning of the college year.

ADMISSION SUBJECTS IN DETAIL

BIOLOGY

The course should consist of recitations and laboratory exercises occupying five hours a week through not less than a half year. It should cover a study of the structure and physiology of plants and animals, with special attention to the human body. In addition practical problems involving man's relation to his environment should receive consideration.

BOTANY

The candidate should complete a course of recitation and laboratory work of not less than five hours a week for one-half of a school year. The class work should cover the structure and important physiological processes of flowering plants.

CHEMISTRY

The topics for study should include:

Properties of the principal acid-forming elements and their compounds; simple problems on relations by weight; relations between gas-volumes and the weights of chemically related solids; acids, bases, and salts; formation of acids and bases from their salts; valence; series of oxy-acids and their salts; oxidation and reduction; acid anhydrides; hydrated and poly-acids.

ENGLISH

The requirement in English is that recommended by the National Conference on Uniform Entrance Requirements in English. The candidate may choose between two plans for preparation, the Restrictive and the Comprehensive.

REQUIREMENTS UNDER THE RESTRICTIVE PLAN

Habits of correct, clear, truthful expression. This part of the requirement calls for a carefully graded course in oral and written composition, and for instruction in the practical essentials of grammar, a study which should be reviewed in the secondary school. In all written work constant attention should be paid to spelling, punctuation, and good usage in general as distinguished from current errors. In all oral work there should be constant insistence upon the elimination of such elementary errors as personal speech-defects, foreign accent, and obscure enunciation.

Ability to read with intelligence and appreciation works of moderate difficulty; familiarity with a few masterpieces. This part of the requirement calls for a carefully graded course in literature. Two lists of books are provided from which a specified number of units must be chosen for reading and study.¹ The first, designated as "Books for Reading," contains selections appropriate for the earlier years in the secondary school. These should be carefully read, in some cases studied, with a measure of thoroughness appropriate for immature minds. The second, designated as "Books for Study," contains selections for the closer study warranted in the later years. The progressive course formed from the two lists should be supplemented by home reading on the part of the pupil and by classroom reading on the part of pupils and instructor. It should be kept constantly in mind that the main purpose is to cultivate a fondness for good literature and to encourage the habit of reading with discrimination.

REQUIREMENT UNDER THE COMPREHENSIVE PLAN

The requirement under the Comprehensive Plan is identical with the requirement under the Restrictive Plan except that no books are prescribed for reading and study, the selection of suitable works being left to the preparatory school.

HISTORY

The requirements are those adopted by the College Entrance Examination Board, April 21, 1923.

A. ANCIENT HISTORY

The course should devote one-half of the year to the study of the ancient Orient and Greece as far as the death of Alexander and the break-up of his empire, with the expansion of Greek culture in the Mediterranean World. The second half-year should be devoted to the study of the history of Rome to the year 476 A.D.

Since not more than one-tenth of the whole time available can be allotted to the study of the history of the Orient, only so much of its narrative history should be studied as will hold the story together and fix its geography and its time relations. Emphasis should be laid, not upon the details of military and political history, but upon the civilization developed by the different peoples of the Orient, with particular reference to the contributions which they made to later ages.

In the study of Greek history, little time should be spent on the period prior to the Persian Wars, except to deal concretely with Homeric society and to emphasize the expansion of Hellas. From the Persian Wars to the death of Alexander the study should be exact and thorough, with special reference to the political, intellectual, and artistic development of Hellas during the Age of Pericles. Instead of trying to trace the constitutional development of Athens and Sparta from the beginning, the operation of the government in these states at the time of their maturity should be mastered.

In the period following the death of Alexander no attempt should be made to follow the intricate political history of the time, but opportunity should be found to study the federal government of Greece and the philosophy, literature, art, and religious cults which were the factors of the mixed Græco-Oriental culture of which Rome became the heir.

At the beginning of the second half-year the history of Rome to about the year 300 B.C. should be covered very rapidly. The attempt should be made rather to understand the organization and working of Senatorial government in the third and second centuries B.C. than to trace the changes made in Roman institutions in the fifth and fourth centuries. From 300 B.C. to the death of Marcus Aurelius the study must be relatively detailed and thorough.

B. EUROPEAN HISTORY

The C. E. E. B. examination in this subject is designed both for the students who have prepared in Medieval and Modern European history and for those who have prepared in Modern European history only.

Students who are offering Medieval and Modern European history will not be held to so detailed a knowledge of the nineteenth century as those offering only Modern European history. They should emphasize the contributions of the Roman Empire, the German, and the Christian Church to medieval civilization. The structure of feudal society, the Crusades, the formation of the European states, the several phases of the Renaissance and of the Reformation, and the discoveries outside of Europe should be covered.

Students who are offering Modern European history should emphasize the absolute monarchy of Louis XIV, colonial expansion and rivalries, the development of the constitutional monarchy in England, the enlightened despotism of Frederick the Great, the republican government of Revolutionary France, the Napoleonic epoch, and the main facts in the political development of Europe since 1815. Special emphasis should be laid upon the Industrial Revolution—its political and social aspects—upon the growth of nationalism and democracy, and upon the economic expansion of the European possessions outside of Europe. The study of the last half-century should include some account of the great material changes, important inventions, and intellectual and social and humanitarian movements.

C. ENGLISH HISTORY

The division of the work between the two half-years should be made at about 1660.

During the first half-year, the periods of the Tudors and the early Stuarts should receive emphasis. Only the briefest reference to the period before 1066 need be made, and from the Norman Conquest to the accession of the Tudors the treatment should be topical rather than exhaustive. It should deal with the effects of the Norman Conquest, relations with France, Scotland, and Ireland, Magna Carta and the origins of Parliament, and the emergence of parliamentary government out of the feudal monarchy. Some attempt also should be made to explain the development and character of the Christian Church in England, its relations with the papacy, the severance of these relations, the establishment of the national church, and the Puritan movement.

In the second half-year, starting with the Restoration, attention should be given first to the continued struggle between Crown and Parliament, culminating in the establishment of responsible government. In studying the great wars with France, attention should be directed to the commercial and colonial expansion in America and the East. With regard to imperial policy, the causes and effects of the Scottish and Irish unions and the revolt of the American colonies should be explained. The study of the revolution in agriculture, industry, and transportation should include some consideration of the consequent political and social reforms. Since the Reform Act of 1867, emphasis should be laid upon the more important reforms affecting economic, political, and social life, and upon the problem of Ireland. Some idea should be given of the growth and nature of the British power in the Colonies and the problem of imperial organization.

In general, it is desirable to emphasize the important epochs and movements rather than the reigns of the monarchs; to trace developments; to secure a clear comprehension of the more influential personalities; and to show the relations of English history to the history of other countries, especially the United States.

D. AMERICAN HISTORY

Note: The College Board requires American History with Civil Government. Amherst College gives credit also for American History without Civil Government.

The period of American history prior to 1763 may be treated briefly as a background for subsequent epochs. The period since the Civil War should receive adequate attention (about as much time as the period between 1763 and 1865).

The study of civil government should include a careful analysis of the Constitution of the United States—the powers, organization, and functions of the federal government, the relations between the states and the federal government, and the general nature and extent of the powers reserved to the states. Candidates should devote at least one-fourth of their time to civil government. This study should be closely coordinated with American history at every point of contact.

For the guidance of both the teacher and the student, the following suggestions are made:

1. That careful attention should be paid to map studies.
2. That the topics of slavery and secession should not be emphasized at the expense of the study of territorial expansion and social and industrial growth.
3. That due attention should be paid to the policy of the United States in foreign affairs, tariff, banking, civil service, currency, trusts, conservation of natural resources, capital and labor, immigration, and other present day problems.
4. That familiarity with the lives and public services of great Americans should be especially encouraged.

LATIN

Amherst College estimates its Latin requirement as equivalent to four years of study in Latin, which will include four books of Cæsar, six orations of Cicero and six books of Vergil's Aeneid. The College accepts, however, satisfactory preparation along the lines described in the statement of the College Entrance Examination Board, which is as follows:

There are no prescribed readings in Latin, but the following recommendations are made.

(1) In the second year the early reading should be easy Latin which may be "made" or adapted Latin; not less than one semester of this year should be devoted to the reading of selections from Cæsar. The reading for the year may also include easy selections from such authors as Aulus Gellius, Eutropius, Nepos, Phaedrus, Quintus Curtius Rufus, and Valerius Maximus, or books of selections containing some of these together with other authors of prose works.

(2) In the third year, if the reading be in prose, not less than one semester should be devoted to the reading of selections from Cicero; the reading for the year may also include selections from such authors as Pliny, Sallust, and Livy, or books of selections containing these and other authors of prose works.

(3) In the fourth year, if the reading be in poetry, not less than one semester should be devoted to the reading of selections from Vergil; and the reading for the year may also includes elections from such works as the Metamorphoses, Tristia, Heroides, and Fasti of Ovid, or books of selections containing poems or extracts from Ovid or from other poets.

The present definition of the requirements in Mathematics is in accordance with recommendations made in 1918 by a committee of the Mathematical Association of America.

MUSIC (Harmony)

The candidate should acquire: (1) the ability to harmonize in four vocal parts simple melodies of not fewer than eight measures, in soprano or in bass. The harmonization of such melodies requires a knowledge of triads and inversions, of diatonic seventh chords and their inversions, in major and minor modes, and of modulation, transient or complete, to nearly related keys; (2) a knowledge of analysis of ninth chords, of all non-harmonic tones, and of altered chords.

Systematic ear-training (as to interval, melody, and chord) is urgently recommended as part of the preparation for this examination. A full knowledge of the rudiments of music, scales, intervals, and staff notation, is expected.

PHYSICS

Candidates should pursue a course extending through one year, involving both class exercises and laboratory work. The class work should include careful study of the whole subject as presented in some good text-book of high school grade.

PHYSIOGRAPHY

Candidates should master Dryer's Physical Geography or Davis' Elementary Physical Geography, with laboratory work and excursions for observations of land features.

PHYSIOLOGY

Candidates should complete a course of lectures, recitations and laboratory work of not less than forty hours, including the study of the structure of the principal organs of the human body. This should include a brief review of the organization of the human body, and a careful survey of the methods of operation of at least the digestive, circulatory, and nervous systems. The emphasis should be placed on function rather than on details of structure. An elementary knowledge of personal hygiene as the practical application of this science is required.

The requirement in Spanish A is based upon the recommendations of a committee of the Modern Language Association. See page 101 for college courses which correspond to entrance Spanish A, B.

A. ELEMENTARY SPANISH (Cp. 2)

During the first year the work should comprise: (1) careful drill in pronunciation; (2) the rudiments of grammar, including the inflection of the regular and the more common irregular verbs, the inflection of nouns, adjectives, and pronouns, and the elementary rules of syntax; (3) abundant easy exercises, designed not only to fix in the memory the forms and principles of grammar, but also to cultivate readiness in the reproduction of natural forms of expression; (4) the reading of about 100 pages of graduated texts, with constant practice in translating into Spanish easy variations of the sentences read (the teacher giving the English), and in reproducing from memory sentences previously read; (5) writing Spanish from dictation; (6) memorizing of Spanish passages of conversational prose and of simple verse.

Suitable texts for the first year are: a carefully graded reader for beginners: Juan Valera, El pájaro verde; Perez Escrich, Fortuna; Altamirano, La Navidad en las montañas.

ZOÖLOGY

The requirement in Zoölogy was framed by a representative commission, the appointment of which was authorized by the College Entrance Examination Board in April 1914.

The course should be developed on the basis of laboratory study guided by definite directions. This should be supplemented by the careful study of at least one modern elementary text-book. At least one-half of the time should be devoted to the practical studies of the laboratory. Pupils should be encouraged to do supplementary work in the line of natural history, especially if good nature studies have not preceded the high school course. A note-book with carefully labeled outline drawings of the chief structures studied anatomically, with notes on demonstrations, and in explanation of drawings, with descriptions of experiments, with dates and with index, should be prepared by the pupil in connection with practical work.

CURRICULUM

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

The liberal college seeks to train its students for individual civic, and, less directly, for professional life: for individual life by arousing interests that may fill one's leisure with varied and worthy enjoyment; for civic life by enlightenment upon political and social conditions past and present, and by cultivation of independent judgment and sense of civic responsibility; for professional life by providing useful tools, and, in particular, that rigorous discipline in thinking which underlies all professional work.

By the study of pure science the student is taught exact observation, precise recording, and generalization within limited fields; by mathematics and philosophy he is trained in abstract thought, his imagination is both quickened and controlled, and he is, accordingly, fitted for more accurate inference and wider generalization; in the historical, literary, and artistic departments he is introduced to the more complex problems of human relationships, familiarized with the accumulated experience of the race, and thus freed from the narrow limits of the provincial and the contemporary. Thus viewed, the curriculum of liberal arts and sciences, with its several disciplines interrelated and overlapping rather than sharply differentiated, is a process of liberalization, of freeing the mind from the prejudices and limitations of inexact and partial knowledge, and of opening the eyes to "see life steadily and see it whole."

In pursuance of these aims the curriculum of the College has been arranged as follows.

DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF ARTS

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is awarded to candidates who complete twenty year-courses which include one year of mathematics; one year of English; one year (two years if elementary) of Greek or one year of Latin¹; two years of science in the group astronomy, biology, chemistry, geology, physics; one year in the group English, foreign language, music; one year of history or philosophy; and in addition to the twenty courses certain work in the group public speaking, dramatic art, chorus or orchestra, and in physical education.

In order to receive a degree a candidate must have no deficiencies in the work of any year, must have a reading knowledge of French or German, and must attain an average grade of seventy per cent for his entire course.

Courses of study are by years. All courses are assigned three hours each week except (1) the year of required mathematics, the first year of Greek for beginners, the elementary course in Vergil, and the regular Freshman courses in Greek and Latin, which are four-hour courses for half of the year and three-hour courses for the other half of the year; and (2) the year of required English which is a two-hour course.

Every candidate for a degree completes one major and two minors during his college course.

A major consists of three year-courses in the same subject pursued either (1) during three consecutive years, or (2) during the Junior and Senior years. A major must be completed in the Senior year, and, therefore, it may not be begun until after the Freshman year.

A minor consists of two consecutive year-courses in one subject after the freshman year.

Each student takes five courses in each year, no student taking more than six courses. (This does not apply to Public Speaking 1, 2, Dramatic Art 1, Music A.)

Not more than two courses taken simultaneously in one subject or under one instructor count towards a degree.

¹ Two years if the candidate offers only the minimum requirement in ancient language.

Except for students working for honors, a student may elect more than four year-courses in any subject only if permitted to do so by the department and the Administration Committee.

Credits for subjects previously taken may not be used to reduce the number of courses required in any year nor as substitutes for delinquencies subsequently incurred.

Early in his college course the student should note the prerequisites of the various departments in order that he may not be prevented from making the elections which he desires.

HONORS IN A SPECIAL SUBJECT

Honors in a single department of study are awarded for special work involving collateral reading or investigation under special conditions. (See page 102). A successful candidate is recommended to the Faculty for honors, high honors, or highest honors. A student who receives honors has one-half unit added to his total average rank; high honors, one unit; highest honors, two units. Honors are entered on the Commencement program and announced in the annual catalogue.

GRADUATION IN THREE YEARS

A student who has at entrance, by examination, credit for two year-courses may take six courses each year in addition to the required work in the group public speaking, dramatic art, chorus or orchestra, and in physical education, and may thus obtain a degree in three years. Written notice of intention to complete the course in three years must be given to the Secretary of the Faculty at the beginning of the first year.

STUDIES OF FRESHMAN YEAR

7. Physical education

^aIf the subject chosen is Greek 1 the student elects Greek 2 in his Sophomore year. In other cases only one year of ancient language is required of those who have presented for admission either four years of Latin or three years of Greek.

^bEspecial attention is called to the fact that the reading-knowledge examination in French or German may be taken in the fall of the Freshman year by those students only who present for admission three units in the language. Such an examination may be taken in the spring of the Freshman year by those who present but two units of French or German provided the language has been continued during the Freshman year.

^cOne subject must be elected from this group. These courses run through the year and require attendance and study approximately equal in amount to one-third that of a regular three-hour course.

^dIf the reading requirement of French or German has not been satisfied during Freshman year one of these languages must be elected in Sophomore year.

PRE-MEDICAL STUDY

Students expecting to enter a medical school should plan their college work carefully so as to be sure to be properly prepared. French and German are required for admission to Johns Hopkins University, French or German elsewhere. In science the following elections should be made: in Freshman year, Chemistry 1; in Sophomore year, Chemistry 2 and Biology 1; in Junior year, Chemistry 3 (desirable but not necessary) and Physics 1; and in Senior year, Chemistry 4, Biology 4, and Final Honors in chemistry or biology. If Chemistry 3 is not to be taken, chemistry may be started in Sophomore year.

DEGREE OF MASTER OF ARTS

Every candidate for the Degree of Master of Arts shall make application to the Dean of the College for permission to enter upon a course of study for the degree. (See page 29.) This application should be made as early as possible, in any case not later than one week before the first day of the college year. A blank form of application may be obtained from the Dean of the College. This application should be accompanied by the official transcript of the applicant's record at the institution where he has received his Bachelor of Arts degree, showing in detail the entrance subjects, the college courses and the grades received in the work for the degree.

Each candidate, as soon as his application is approved by the Dean, should discuss his plans in person or by letter with some member of the department in which he proposes to do his major work. His plan of work when approved by the department shall then be reported to the Dean for final approval by the Administration Committee.

In pursuing a course of instruction in Amherst College for the degree of Master of Arts it is desired that the candidate shall catch the spirit and purpose of creative scholarship. To this end an essential requirement for the degree of Master of Arts is the presentation of a thesis that shall indicate ability to do work on one's own initiative.

In addition to the above and as a preparation for further graduate work the candidate while in residence shall complete with a grade of at least eighty per cent certain advanced courses which have a unity in subject and purpose. The usual plan of work consists of four related advanced courses, of which one shall involve investigation or creative work; but a special plan involving more of such independent work, if approved by the department in which the candidate will be working, may be approved by the Committee on Administration. Candidates may register for elementary courses, but no credit will be given for them toward the degree.

The thesis is a report of the research done by the candidate, typewritten in form for publication. Three copies shall be submitted to the professor in charge of the candidate's work one week before the regular examination period in June, one of which shall be deposited in the college library.

The thesis must be accepted and approved by the professor in charge before the candidate is admitted to the examination for the Master's degree.

This examination is oral and is held during the week immediately preceding the regular final examination period in June, the exact date to be arranged by conference between the candidate and the professor under whom his work is being done. The examination covers the work of the thesis or questions bearing on it in related fields. It is open to all members of the faculty, who may question the candidate as they desire. Examiners may inform themselves as to the material covered, by reading the thesis in advance. At the conclusion of the examination the examiners present constitute a committee to certify to the Dean whether the candidate has met this portion of the requirements for the degree.

Candidates must spend one year in residence at Amherst and appear in person at the conferring of the degree.

Communications relative to the degree should be addressed to the Dean of the College.

MAJOR WITH HONORS

In addition to the general requirements for all candidates for a major with honors, page 61, the departments offering opportunity for this work makes special requirements, which follow.

ASTRONOMY:

The following courses are required:

Astronomy 1. (Must be taken in Sophomore year.)

Astronomy 2.

Astronomy 5.

Physics 1. (Must be taken before Junior year.)

Physics 4.

Chemistry 1.

Mathematics 2.

BIOLOGY:

Honors in biology shall, in addition to the major, include individual work in course 9 on a problem under the direction of some member of the staff. The problem will ordinarily involve laboratory or field work, but in special cases may have to do with the development of biological theory or biological philosophy. The results of such study shall be embodied in a thesis to be presented at the comprehensive examination. In preparation for the comprehensive examination the candidate shall familiarize himself with a selected list of biological literature which will be furnished by the department.

BOTANY:

In addition to the regular major requirements, the following programmes leading to honors are open:

A. Taxonomy and plant distribution.

The candidate is expected to continue the collection of specimens during the summer vacation and to make a special study of a particular group of plants or a particular area. The Connecticut Valley with its especially large flora and varied topography is exceptionally well adapted for floristic study.

B. Plant evolution.

Special survey of an assigned group. The candidate should also complete the course in Geology 2.

CHEMISTRY:

Plan A:

At the end of the Junior year the candidate must have credit in the following courses:

Chemistry 1, 2, and 3.

Physics 1.

Mathematics 2.

In the Senior year he must take:

Chemistry 4.

Chemistry H. (Six hours laboratory course.)

Plan B:

At the end of the Junior year the candidate must have credit in the following courses:

Chemistry 1, 2, 3, and 4.

Physics 1.

Mathematics 2.

In the Senior year, he must take:

Chemistry H. (Twelve hours laboratory course.)

Chemistry H, the honors course, consists of problems in chemistry, a minimum of six hours (or twelve hours) per week in the laboratory, plus bibliography and collateral reading.

The comprehensive examination will cover the material of all the courses taken, with special attention to the correlation of the material in these different courses.

Highest honors will not be given to candidates under Plan A.

It is expected that the candidate will have an elementary reading knowledge of German by the end of the Junior year.

ECONOMICS:

1. Application for major with honors must be made to the department not later than February 15th of the Junior year.

2. Honors work during the second semester of the Junior year will consist of outside reading and occasional meetings for discussion.

3. Honors work in the Senior year, is intended (a) to fill definite gaps in the student's knowledge, (b) to give him a more general background in the social sciences, and (c) to permit him to do original work with some specific problem.

4. All candidates for honors shall elect the conference course in their Senior year.

5. All candidates shall prepare a thesis based on original work in some selected field in economics. The quality of this thesis shall be an important factor in determining the grade of honors work.

ENGLISH:

The number of candidates that the department can accept for honors work is necessarily limited. In case it is necessary to choose among applicants of equal ability, the department will prefer students who have pursued the study of Greek or Latin beyond the one year required, who have a reading knowledge of French or German, and who have taken courses in history or philosophy (not including psychology). A year of college Greek is no longer required as a preliminary to honors work.

Students intending to become candidates for honors should consult the Chairman of the department as soon as possible in the second semester of their Sophomore year.

In electing courses for the Junior year candidates for honors should register for the conference course.

FRENCH:

The opportunity is offered to specially qualified and earnest students to pursue further work in preparation for a degree with honors in French.

1. To be admitted as a candidate for honors in French a student must have received at least 80 per cent in the French course taken in the Sophomore year.

2. A candidate for honors must fulfill the following requirements:

- (a) The completion of a major in French with a grade of at least 80 per cent.
- (b) The completion of one of his minors in any of the following fields: an ancient language, another modern language, history or philosophy (except psychology).
- (c) Satisfactory work during the Junior and Senior years in the conference course to be given by the various members of the department. This course will be intended to prepare men in part for the honors examination by dealing with a few of the authors selected from a list of chosen authors, but it must not be thought that this course alone will suffice for that preparation. The students will be expected to prepare papers on assigned topics and detailed explanations of assigned texts.

- (d) The preparation of a thesis during the Senior year under the supervision of one member of the department upon a subject to be determined by the candidate and the department.
- (e) The candidate will be tested at the end of his Senior year by two examinations, the first upon his ability in the written and spoken language, and the second (three hours in length) upon his knowledge of French literature and French history. The list of authors to be studied may be obtained from the department.

GEOLOGY:

Honors are obtained by including in the major either Geology 4 or 5, and by presenting a thesis on an assigned topic in the field covered by these courses, in addition to the regular honors examination.

GERMAN:

The work for a major with honors must include German 3 and at least two more advanced courses, together with the conference course.

GREEK:

A major with honors in Greek shall consist of the following:

- (a) Courses 3, 4, H, and one course chosen from the following; courses 2, 6, 7.
- (b) Study of certain works specified by the department.

By arrangement between the candidate and the instructor in charge work in Greek prose composition may be substituted for part of this reading.

The comprehensive examination, lasting at least two three-hour periods, will cover the subject matter of the candidate's major courses and the extra reading involved. In the case of the conference course a written report may be submitted as part of the comprehensive examination.

Honors in Classics

A student who has satisfied the requirements for a major with honors in Greek and has attained grades of at least B in two of the following courses—Latin 2, 3, 4—may be recommended for honors in Classics.

HISTORY:

All candidates for honors must elect History 9.

LATIN:

A major with honors in Latin shall consist of the following:

Two years reading and study under the direction of members of the department;

(a) Junior year. A survey of Latin literature.

(b) Senior year. Work in one of the following fields;

1. Extensive reading in a Latin author or authors selected by consultation between the candidate and members of the department.
2. Latin composition.
3. Roman history.
4. Roman archaeology.
5. Roman law.

Honors in Classics

A student who has satisfied the requirements for a major with honors in Latin and has attained grades of at least B in two of the following courses—Greek 2, 3, 4, 6, 7—may be recommended for honors in Classics.

MATHEMATICS:

To secure honors in Mathematics the candidate must satisfy the usual requirements for a major in that subject and in addition must complete the conference work stipulated by the department.

PHILOSOPHY:

To secure honors in Philosophy the candidate must satisfy the usual requirements for a major in that subject and in addition must complete such special work as the department may stipulate.

PHYSICS:

To graduate with honors in Physics a student should register in his Senior year for either Physics 5 or Physics 6, with the understanding that he will be required to do additional work in that course to satisfy the honors requirement.

POLITICAL SCIENCE:

Candidates for honors in Political Science take one course in their Junior year and two courses in their Senior year, of which one may be the Conference course. In addition, at least one of the following courses in related fields shall be offered: Biology 7; Economics 3, 4 or 5; History 3, 5, 6 or 7; Philosophy 3 or 4.

Candidates must notify the department not later than the end of their Junior year; an earlier notification is desirable.

During their Senior year, candidates will prepare a thesis based upon original work on a special subject in the field. The work of the Conference course will afford opportunity for special investigation of the subject selected and for general reading designed to relate the subject to the broader questions of political theory and practice.

The academic year includes thirty-six weeks of term time, divided into two semesters. There is a Christmas recess of two weeks and a spring recess of nine days. Commencement Day is the Monday after the third Sunday in June.

ATTENDANCE AT COLLEGE EXERCISES

The officer in general charge of matters concerning attendance at college exercises is the Dean of the College.

Attendance at class exercises is administered subject to the general regulation that a student is allowed in every course a number of absences not exceeding one-tenth of the number of exercises in that course.

The following rules apply in case a student exceeds this allowance:

In case a student takes in any course an unexcused absence in excess of his allowance he is reported to the Dean. For the first unexcused absence in excess of his semester allowance in any course a student may be deprived of all absences from classes for the remainder of the semester, and in the following semester he will be reduced to the next lower absence group. In the case of a student without allowed absences, an unexcused absence will entail disciplinary action by the Dean, which may involve exclusion from the course in question, or, in flagrant cases, being dismissed from College.

All students must attend the chapel exercises held every week-day morning except Saturday at ten minutes before eleven o'clock in Johnson Chapel, and at five o'clock every Sunday afternoon in the College Church. In reckoning the absences from chapel exercises an absence from a Sunday service counts double. Absences from chapel exercises are allowed as follows: (1) for Freshmen and Sophomores at the rate of two a week in each semester; (2) for Juniors and Seniors, at the rate of three a week in each semester. Any student, on application to the Recorder, may be excused from attending services at the College Church in order to attend church service elsewhere with the denomination of his choice. If the student is under twenty-one years of age, his application must be accompanied by a written request from his parent or guardian.

HEALTH AND PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT

The officer having general supervision of student health and physical development is the College Physician.

The College Physician is a member of the Department of Hygiene and Physical Education, and keeps himself acquainted with the health of the students, providing for their proper treatment if ill. Each student soon after he enters College, and twice thereafter during his course, if he so desires, is given a careful physical examination and advised how to maintain his health and increase his physical efficiency.

Three hours a week of physical exercise are required of the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior Classes until the spring recess. During the autumn the prescribed work is taken outdoors.

Instruction is given in swimming. Every student who on entering College cannot swim is required to learn during the first year, and before the end of Sophomore year to pass the college requirement in swimming, i.e., 100 yards, the start to be made by diving or jumping from the edge of the pool.

The results of this system of prescribed physical training, as shown by statistics systematically kept for more than sixty years, are eminently satisfactory.

An annual inspection is made of all fraternity houses with respect to their sanitary condition and safety in case of fire.

The College has an infirmary (see p. 131) with fifteen beds. It is in charge of the College Physician, though any student is at liberty to employ a physician of his own choice. It contains an operating room for emergency surgical cases, and an isolation ward for treatment of infectious diseases. The matron and her assistant, both graduate nurses, are ready at all hours during term time to relieve ill or disabled students, and to care for them pending any arrangements for special treatment.

A health-service charge of ten dollars is made for each student, which entitles him to one week's bed, board, general nursing, and attendance by the College Physician. For longer periods or for special care an extra charge will be made. Provision is made for a limited number of patients by funds given in aid of needy and worthy students, one in memory of Rev. Edmund K. Alden, D.D., of the Class of 1844, and one in memory of Rev. Thomas P. Field, D.D., of the Class of 1834.

Every case of illness, whether the student goes to the infirmary or not, must be immediately reported to the College Physician.

SCHEDULES, RECORDS, AND REPORTS

The officer in charge of records and reports is the Recorder of the College.

For the convenience of members of the College there is provided a printed schedule of all class exercises, a synopsis of courses for use when the election of studies is being made, and a set of rules and requirements that relate to the internal life of the College. These, together with copies of the annual catalogue, may be obtained at the Recorder's office.

Every student, upon admission to College, is given an Undergraduate Course Book in which is kept a record of his work in College. This course book is returned to the Recorder twice a year for additional records and verification.

Reports of standing are sent to parents or guardians at the end of each semester. Rank in each subject is reported as follows:

A, 90-100%; B, 80-89%; C, 70-79%; D, 60-69%; E, 50-59%; F, below 50%. The passing grade in each individual course is 60%, and an average grade of at least 70% is required for a degree.

The average grade for each year and the general average for all years are reported on the percentage basis.

EXPENSES

All communications concerning tuition, fees, and rental of rooms should be made to the Comptroller of the College.

TUITION

The charge for tuition, including the use of the library and gymnasium, is four hundred dollars for the year, payable in two instalments, one of two hundred and twenty dollars at the opening of the College in September, and one of one hundred and eighty dollars on or before March fifth.

Every student who takes an extra course in order to remove a delinquency incurred by a failure is required to pay an extra fee, at the rate of eighty dollars for a three-hour course for the year, estimated on the basis of credits allowed. Fifty-five per cent of this fee is payable at the opening of the College in September, and the remainder on or before March fifth.

The health tax of ten dollars is payable on or before the opening of the College in September.

Every member of the Senior class is required to pay a graduation fee of six dollars on or before March fifth.

The charge for tuition for candidates for the degree of Master of Arts is four hundred dollars.

LABORATORY FEES

Yearly fees are charged in connection with laboratory courses in biology, chemistry, and physics as follows:

Biology 1	$10.00
Biology 3	10.00
Biology 4	15.00
Biology 5	5.00
Biology 6	10.00
Biology 7	5.00
Biology 8	10.00

Physics 4	10.00

These fees must be paid when the classes are organized. Dues for breakage must be paid at the close of each semester.

ROOMS AND BOARD

The dormitories of the College accommodate about two hundred and fifty students, and the fraternity houses about two hundred and fifty.

The arrangement of rooms in the dormitories is such that they may be rented singly or in suites consisting of a study and either one or two bedrooms. Rooms in Morrow Dormitory are furnished and the rent of the equipment is included in the price charged for rooms. Rooms in North College, South College and Morris Pratt Memorial Dormitory are furnished only with bed, mattress and pillow, and a charge of ten dollars per year is made for the use of this equipment. The rooms are heated with steam and lighted with electricity, and many of them are provided with open fireplaces. The floors are hardwood.

Plans showing the arrangement of rooms in the various dormitories, together with a detailed statement of prices, may be obtained from the Comptroller of the College.

A student who is occupying a dormitory room is allowed until April sixteenth to reëngage it for the succeeding year. Beginning with April eighteenth, application will be received from any present occupant of a dormitory room for any dormitory room. Beginning May second, members of the College not now occupying dormitory rooms may apply in the following order: members of the incoming Senior class, May second; members of the incoming Junior class, May fourth; members of the incoming Sophomore class, May seventh. Beginning May ninth rooms will be rented as called for or they may be reserved for incoming Freshmen. Application for dormitory rooms should be made by incoming Freshmen as early in the year as possible, since assignment is made in order of application.

A payment of ten dollars is required when a room is engaged, this amount being credited on the account when the first payment is made. The balance of one-half of the yearly rental is payable at the beginning of the college year and the second half on or before March fifth.

Dormitory rooms may be rented only for the entire academic year even in cases of withdrawal from College. Applicants who are rejected at the June examinations will be released from their contracts, and deposits made to secure rooms will be refunded on written request to the Comptroller before August first. After the June examinations all applicants who engage rooms will be held responsible for the year's rental.

Dormitory rooms may be occupied on the Saturday before the week in which the college year opens.

The prices charged for rooms include heat, water, and care by janitors. Electricity used in the rooms is paid for by the occupants at the close of each term. The range of prices for the current year is as follows:

Single rooms $90 a year minimum.

Study and one bedroom from $150 to $520 a year.

Study and two bedrooms from $480 to $530 a year.

Rooms may also be rented in private houses.

Board is furnished at various places in the town at prices which range from nine dollars to ten dollars a week.

A cafeteria dining-room in Morrow Dormitory accommodates about one hundred and fifty students.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Student activities, both athletic and non-athletic, are supervised by the Faculty Committee on Student Activities, through its Executive Secretary. The athletic activities are in immediate charge of the student council. A student tax (not more than twenty dollars) is levied to support these activities. This entitles a student to free admission to all home athletic events.

SUMMARY

The following table shows three scales of annual expenditures, not including clothing, vacation expenses, laboratory charges, membership in fraternities and other student organizations, athletic tax, and incidentals:

SCHOLARSHIPS AND BENEFICIARY AID

The officer directly in charge of the administration of scholarships and beneficiary aid is the Dean of the College.

The beneficiary funds of the College aggregate seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The income of these funds is distributed annually, among students of high character and good scholarship who need pecuniary aid.

Aid from beneficiary funds is given to students who maintain a high standard of honor, who, in the preceding year, passed all their courses with an average grade of not less than seventy per cent, whose habits are economical, and who are candidates for a degree.

Awards are paid in instalments, at the beginning of the college year and in the middle of February.

Applicants for scholarships in the three upper classes must file at the Dean's office, on or before June 1, an account of their income and expenditures for the current year, and a statement of their resources for the following year.

Applicants for the renewal of scholarships must present an account of their expenditures and income for the current year.

In general scholarships are of three grades: four hundred dollars, three hundred and seventy-five dollars, and three hundred and fifty dollars, the amount being credited on tuition bills. Scholarships of the first grade are awarded to students whose average standing is A (90% to 100%); of the second grade, to students whose average standing is B (80% to 90%); of the third grade, to students whose average standing is C (70% to 80%). There are also a certain number of scholarships of smaller amounts which are awarded to students whose financial need is not so pressing.

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR INCOMING STUDENTS

More than fifty scholarships are awarded annually to applicants for admission to college who are in need of financial aid and who met in full the entrance requirements. These scholarships are awarded for the first half year and entitle the recipient to a credit of one hundred and ninety-five dollars on the first bill for tuition. The continuation of each scholarship for the second half of the year depends upon the student's grade for the first semester, and, when granted, involves a credit on the second bill for tuition in accordance with the following schedule: for a grade of C, one hundred and fifty-five dollars; for a grade of B, one hundred and eighty dollars; for a grade of A, two hundred and five dollars.

Blanks for application may be obtained from the Dean, and, when filled out by the applicant, must be accompanied by two letters concerning need, character, and attainments. One of these letters should be from the principal of the school.

STUDENT LOAN FUND

Through the liberality of friends of the College, provision is made for loans of a limited amount to a few students in the later years of the course, at a low rate of interest, upon notes acceptably endorsed and payable one or two years after graduation. In accordance with the conditions imposed by the donors of the Loan Fund, its use is limited to students of thorough scholarship whose habits of expenditure are economical.

Application blanks may be obtained at the Treasurer's office. It is the policy of the committee not to make any loan until at least one term of the college course has been completed.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

SITUATION

The town of Amherst lies in the Connecticut Valley about one hundred miles west of Boston, and almost the same distance north of New Haven, on the eastern border of the valley, some six miles from the river. The college stands on top of a hill with a broad outlook from any building and from most points on the grounds, over town and valley, across fertile meadows stretching away to the Holyoke Range on the south, the Hampshire and Berkshire Hills on the west, Sugar Loaf and Mount Toby on the north, and the Pelham Hills, including Mount Lincoln, on the east. Most of the buildings are on the hill, grouped about the Campus. On the other side of Pleasant Street, the main thoroughfare of the town, are the Morgan Library, College Hall, and the President's House. About five minutes' walk from the Campus are the Observatory, Pratt Field, the Indoor Athletic Field, and the Faculty Club. The Pratt Health Cottage is farther away, on the northern edge of the town. The college holdings in Amherst total over 350 acres.

BUILDINGS AND EQUIPMENT

The buildings about the Campus are the dormitories, library, laboratories, chapel, church, gymnasium, and the buildings used for the class-rooms and administrative offices. Walker Hall, which is the focus of most of the paths on the grounds, contains the offices of the President, the Dean, the Dean of Freshmen, the Secretary, the Treasurer, the Recorder, and the Secretary of the Alumni Council, and several class-rooms. Barrett Hall has class-rooms for German and Romance languages; Williston Hall for Latin, Greek, and English. Other class-rooms are in the chapel building, Appleton Hall, the Octagon, and the laboratory buildings.

The Converse Memorial Library was first opened for use in the autumn of 1917. It has dignity and beauty, besides ample space and equipment for the convenience and comfort of all who use the library. The reading and periodical rooms will accommodate one hundred readers at a time. The Converse or "browsing" room is lined with open shelves among which the students may explore for themselves as they might in well-filled libraries in their own homes. The Clyde Fitch room is a replica of the dramatist's study as it was in his house in New York. Much space has been devoted to the department rooms, of which there are eleven provided for such study, research, and seminar work as may be done with the book collection close at hand. The book collection at present numbers almost 200,000 volumes, freely available to students.

Fayerweather Laboratory houses the department of Physics, containing a large lecture room with apparatus rooms adjoining, library and reading room, recitation room, laboratories for elementary experimental work, for work in electricity and for research, a balance room, dark rooms for photographic and for general work, an optical room, and a spectroscopy room equipped with a concave grating spectroscopy. In the basement are battery rooms, a room for special researches, a workshop and dynamo room with electric and water power. A radio station is housed in a special room on the third floor. In the north half of the building, formerly occupied by the Department of Chemistry, the second floor is devoted to the work of the first year course in Biology.

The Moore Laboratory of Chemistry, dedicated October 25, 1929, is a large fireproof building of brick and concrete construction. On the basement floor are the main lecture room, laboratory for first year students, stock room, reading room, and shop. The three upper floors provide class-rooms and laboratories for the advanced courses, a departmental library, private offices and laboratories, and seminar room. The building is commodious and convenient and very completely equipped.

The biological and geological laboratories occupy a large building on the south side of the Campus, commanding a wide and varied view which affords ready illustrations of many geological phenomena. Besides lecture and class-rooms, laboratories and work rooms, the building contains the museums of the two departments. In the biology museum are the Adams collection of shells, a part of Audubon's celebrated collection of birds, a synoptic collection of the animal kingdom, and a collection of fossil vertebrates. The geology museum includes the Woods Cabinet, containing about twenty-five thousand specimens of minerals, a general American and European historical geology collection, the State Survey collections of New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, and Connecticut, the Shepard meteorite collection, and a collection of fossil vertebrates. In another room is shown the Hitchcock Ichnological collection of some twenty thousand tracks of animals in stone. The anthropological collection, and an unusually complete and interesting collection of Indian relics are also located in this building.

Appleton Hall provides quarters for the department of Botany, and a number of modernized recitation rooms for general purposes. The building was erected in 1855 to house President Hitchcock's Ichnological collection; and for some years past it held the Gilbert Collection of Indian Relics. Now the entire interior has been reconstructed. On the second floor there is a botanical laboratory, a library, an herbarium large enough to hold the present collection with room for its growth, a private laboratory and office for the instructor, and two class-rooms. The upper floor contains two large lecture rooms and the ground floor contains four class-rooms, and offices for the Committee on Student Activities.

The Observatory has two domes, the larger of which, thirty-five feet in diameter, houses an eighteen-inch Clark telescope. The smaller has a seven and one-fourth inch refractor. The equipment comprises also an altazimuth, two transits, with the usual accessories for meridian observations, and instruments for instruction in the theory and practice of navigation.

The Chapel and the College Church stand respectively on the west and the east borders of the Campus. Morning exercises are held in the Chapel on week-days, and regular Sunday services in the Church.

The Octagon is used exclusively by the Department of Music. It has rooms arranged for class, practice, and chorus and orchestra rehearsal. A grand piano and an Aeolian orchestrelle are provided for use in classes, and by students for purposes of study.

North and South Colleges, Morris Pratt Memorial Dormitory, and Morrow Dormitory, are the college dormitories. All these buildings are heated by steam and lighted by electricity. Most of the rooms have open fireplaces and all have hardwood floors. The two former are among the oldest, and the two latter are among the newest of the college buildings. Morris Pratt Memorial Dormitory and Morrow Dormitory are of fire-proof construction throughout and have large and beautiful resort rooms on the first floor. The dormitories have single rooms, and suites consisting of a study and one or two bedrooms.

A cafeteria, with a kitchen, pantry, and a large common room occupies the first floor of Morrow Dormitory, and a basement room provides for the athletic training table.

College Hall is a large colonial building, once the village church, now the main assembly hall of the College. It is used for the Commencement exercises, and for all the larger gatherings, such as student mass-meetings, and public lectures.

The Henry T. Morgan Library, formerly the College Library, now contains rooms used for special art exhibitions, the offices of the College Physician and the Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, and a special reading room for the Department of Political Science.

The Mather Art Museum occupies the third floor of Williston Hall, and the vestibule and stairway leading to it. It consists of plaster casts, principally of Egyptian, Mycenaean, Greek and Roman sculpture, with a number of examples of Renaissance and later sculpture, both in relief and in the round. Further resources for the study of art are found in the library, and in some of the class-rooms. In addition to the catalogued books and photographs, there are in the vestibule of the Morgan Library building several Assyrian slabs, with inscriptions in cuneiform characters, which were obtained by the late Henry Lobdell, D.D., of the Class of 1849, from the walls of the palace of Assurnazirpal at Nimroud. The Latin and Greek rooms in Williston Hall have many casts in bronze and plaster, as well as collections of photographs, engravings, and stereopticon slides.

The Pratt Gymnasium contains, in the main building, a hall with space and apparatus for general and specialized exercises, the offices of the Department of Physical Education, a fencing and wrestling room, a sparring room, and a rifle range. A wing known as the Pratt Natatorium contains a swimming-pool seventy-five feet long and twenty-two feet wide, and large and small squash-racquet courts.

Hitchcock Memorial Field, of about forty acres, named in honor of Dr. Edward Hitchcock, '49, adjoins the Gymnasium. It contains twenty-four tennis courts, two basketball courts, and four large fields for baseball, football, or soccer. In addition there are areas and equipment for intramural track and field athletics. This field accommodates three hundred students in the different forms of exercises at one time.

Pratt Field, given to the College by Frederic B. Pratt of the Class of 1887, has an area of about thirteen acres, and is used chiefly for intercollegiate games. It has a quarter-mile track and space for field contests, a baseball diamond, football grounds, and tennis courts. The grandstand seats about five hundred, and has dressing-rooms and shower baths for contestants. There is also a bungalow equipped with dressing-rooms and shower baths for the use of visiting teams.

The Indoor Athletic Field was completed in March, 1925. It is located on the western side of Hitchcock Field and is one hundred and sixty feet square and eighty feet high at the peak. The roof is of glass and slate furnishing ample light without bad cross light. There is a running track on the dirt floor twelve feet wide protected by netting. Within is an area one hundred and thirty-six feet square, large enough for infield baseball practice or for field events. The cage is fully equipped. In an adjoining building there are an office, lockers, and shower baths. The property adjoining the cage on the north and fronting on South Common has been secured by the College for erecting later a new gymnasium.

Between Pratt Field and the Observatory lies a tract of woodland known as Hallock Park, and Blake Field, which from 1881 to 1890 served as the main athletic field of the College.

The Mount Doma golf course, five minutes' walk south of the College, was given to the College by Mortimer L. Schiff of the Class of 1896. The course is maintained by the Amherst Golf Club, an organization of faculty, students, and townspeople.

Pratt Health Cottage is the college infirmary. It stands on high ground north of the College, commanding a wide view in every direction. Its space and equipment are sufficient for the accommodation and care of students temporarily disabled by accident or disease.

A Faculty Club House is located at the foot of Chapel Hill west of the Campus.

The Central Heating Plant, by means of underground feed pipes, heats all the buildings on the Campus except the Octagon. Automatic coal handling machinery has been installed to facilitate the operation of the plant.

The Tyler Cabin on Mount Toby was given by Ernest M. Whitcomb '04, on land donated by the late Professor John M. Tyler '73 for the use of the Amherst Outing Club.

UNDERGRADUATE ORGANIZATIONS

In addition to the usual literary, musical, athletic and social organizations of the College there exist at Amherst also the following:

The Poetry Society of Amherst College, a voluntary organization of verse writers drawn from the four undergraduate classes. It was formed in 1926 and has thriven with increased numbers and with increasingly meritorious output continuously since then. The Poetry Society of Amherst College is a branch of the Poetry Society of America, and the plan of monthly meetings in the Amherst Society is copied from the procedure followed by the national body. The Amherst Society sends a representative to the meetings of the national body, which are held once a month in New York City. Since the membership of the national body is composed of the most distinguished of American poets, the members of the Amherst Society have an opportunity in this way to meet the finest poets of their own day.

The Masquers of Amherst College, an organization of undergraduates whose purpose is to produce interesting and significant plays and to encourage activity along dramatic lines. At least three full-length plays are produced during the College year, one of which is done in collaboration with either Mount Holyoke College or Smith College. Each production is given twice in Amherst and frequent performances are given in nearby towns. Membership is open to those who show ability in acting, scene design and construction, lighting, or theatre management. The Masquers occasionally sponsors visits and lectures by outstanding figures in the modern theatre.

The Amherst College Clerical Club, organized in 1926, to whose membership is welcome any student who is seriously considering some form of religious work as a career. The club holds monthly dinners at the Lord Jeffery Inn, at which men who have achieved eminence in the religious world are invited to address the members and answer questions. A special effort is made each fall to reach the Freshmen who come to College with some thought of entering the ministry in later years.

The Amherst College Classical Club, founded in 1924, which meets once a month for discussion and the reading of papers presented alternately by undergraduate and faculty members. Elections to the club are controlled by the undergraduate members.

The Pre-Medical Club, organized in 1928, for the purpose of helping to orient those students who expect to enter upon a career in medicine or in some related scientific field. The club meets once a month to hear an address on and to enter into discussion of the subject of medical education, some phase of medical science, or some important scientific problem. The attempt is made to acquaint students with the opportunities in the various medical schools, and to help them to cultivate the scientific attitude of mind.

The Liberal Club, an informal organization open to the student body of Amherst College, formed for the purpose of fostering thought on and discussion of current social problems. Representative speakers are secured to present the various points of view on the problem under discussion. It has the support and coöperation of the administration and members of the faculty.

The International Relations Club, established in 1929. This organization took part in the Model League of Nations Assembly held at Mt. Holyoke, and in several joint social meetings with the Massachusetts State College and Springfield College. Occasional meetings are held at which noted lecturers are invited to speak and to lead the Club in round table discussion.

The Outing Club, an organization of students and faculty for the purpose of hiking, mountain climbing, skiing and snowshoeing. The club arranges trips, makes and maintains trails, and has a cabin on Mount Toby as its headquarters.

HONORS

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

From the fifteen Seniors who have attained the highest general standing at the end of the first semester of Senior year, speakers are selected upon the basis of literary and oratorical merit to deliver orations on Commencement Day. The Bond Prize of one hundred dollars is awarded to the speaker who delivers the best oration.

THE PHI BETA KAPPA SOCIETY

Those who, at the end of the first semester of Junior year, have attained a grade of eighty-eight per cent are entitled to nomination by the Faculty to membership in the Phi Beta Kappa Society; such nomination is open also to those who, at the end of the first semester of the Senior year, or at the end of the Senior year have attained a grade of eighty-five per cent.

HONORS IN A SPECIAL SUBJECT (OLD PLAN)

Honors in a single department of study are awarded for special work involving collateral reading or investigation under the following conditions:

(1) The candidate must do major work in the department in which he seeks honors. No student may be a candidate in more than one department.

(2) The candidate may begin his preparation in his Junior year and is advised to do so. He must begin it not later than the opening of his Senior year. In each year his work must be under the direction of some one member of the department who will also advise the student in his selection of courses. Application for work leading to honors must be made at the Recorder's office on or before October first of the Senior year. The application must be accompanied by the written approval of a member of the department in which the work is to be done. Permission to be a candidate for honors may be withdrawn at any time by the department or the Administration Committee.

(3) To become a candidate, the student must have a general average of seventy-five per cent in his previous studies. The candidate must have at graduation an average standing of seventy-eight per cent in all studies of his college course.

(4) An incoming Senior of high standing who has shown in his Junior year conspicuous ability to profit by special instruction may petition for permission to reduce by one the number of courses required for his degree. Such a petition must be presented to the department in which the student is a candidate and recommended by it in writing to the Administration Committee for final action. This petition must be presented at the office of the Recorder before the end of the Junior year.

(5) The proficiency of the candidate is tested, at the option of the department, by special examination or by thesis, or by both, at the end of the Senior year. The thesis must be approved by at least two members of the Faculty. The recommendation of the department to the Administration Committee is based on the proficiency thus shown and on the candidate's record within the department.

(6) The honors examination may, by vote of a department, and with the approval of the Administration Committee, take the place of any final course examination in the department. The honors examinations take place during the final examination period or in the fortnight preceding the opening of the final examination period.

(7) A successful candidate is recommended to the faculty for honors, high honors, or highest honors. A student who receives honors has one-half unit added to his total average rank; high honors, one unit; highest honors, two units. Except in special cases, a candidate is not recommended for high honors or highest honors if he has begun his preparation after the beginning of the second term of his Junior year.

Honors are entered on the Commencement program and announced in the annual catalogue.

HONORS IN A SPECIAL SUBJECT (NEW PLAN)

The following shall be effective with the Class of 1934. Meanwhile, a Junior or Senior may elect the new instead of the old plan if he can qualify.

The student taking a major with honors has the privilege of exceptionally close association with the members of the department in planning and fulfilling his work in college.

Each department shall determine its own requirements¹ for honors, high honors, and highest honors, but in accordance with the following general requirements:

To become a candidate the student must have a general average of at least seventy-five at the end of his Sophomore year.

The student's application shall be made to the department before his election of courses at the end of his Sophomore year. If it is accepted, the student shall present the application, approved by the department, to the Recorder, with his election of courses. Only in exceptional or stated cases will a later application be considered.

His application to the department shall be accompanied with a full statement of his work in secondary school and in college, and with a satisfactory tentative plan of the remainder of his work in college.

In each semester the student's work shall be under the supervision of some one member of the department.

¹For a statement of special departmental requirements see page 102.

Attention is called to the rule: "A student may elect more than four year courses in any subject only if permitted to do so by the department and the Administration Committee." This rule shall not apply to students taking a major with honors.

Conference work. (a) In the Junior and Senior years the department may offer conference work, i.e. systematic study pursued by advanced students in conference with the instructor, singly or in small groups, with or without thesis work or other special work. (b) The department may substitute equivalent conference work for one, or, in an exceptional case, for two of the student's regular courses. In this case conference courses shall be announced in the Announcement of Courses and graded like regular courses, and the instructor shall meet the students every week.

The student must pass a comprehensive examination, held early in May of his Senior year. It must include a written examination of three hours and may include oral questions. The examination shall be mainly devoted to work done by the student under the direction of the department, but, at the request of the student, part of the examination may be devoted to work which he has done on his own responsibility by way of filling notable gaps in his knowledge of the subject and by way of relating the subject to his studies in other departments.

The student must attain a final average of at least B in his total work in the department.

The department may relieve the student of the final examination in any course in the department in his Senior year if, after his comprehensive examination, his standing in his total work is considered adequate.

A successful candidate is recommended to the faculty for honors, high honors, or highest honors. A student who receives honors has one-half unit added to his total average rank; high honors, one unit; highest honors, two units. Except in special cases, a candidate is not recommended for high honors or highest honors if he has begun his preparation after the beginning of the second term of his Junior year.

Honors are entered on the Commencement program and announced in the annual catalogue.

HONORABLE MENTION

Honorable mention is awarded in the various departments under the following conditions:

(1) A standing of not less than seventy-five per cent attained in every department for the year.

(2) An average of ninety-three per cent maintained for a full year's course in the department in which honorable mention is sought.

The names of those who have honorable mention are announced in the annual catalogue.

THE AMHERST MEMORIAL FELLOWSHIPS FOR THE STUDY OF SOCIAL, ECONOMIC, AND POLITICAL INSTITUTIONS

Fellowships to perpetuate the memory of those Amherst men who gave their lives for an ideal. The following statement expresses the purpose of the donor of these fellowships: "Realizing the need for better understanding and more complete adjustment between men and existing social, economic, and political institutions, it is my desire to establish a fellowship for the study of the principles underlying these human relationships."

Appointments to these fellowships may be made from the graduating class of Amherst College, or from the alumni of Amherst or of other colleges, the object being to permit men of character, scholarly promise, and intellectual curiosity to investigate some problem in the humanistic sciences. Candidates should be men of sound health. During previous training they should have given evidence of marked mental ability in some branch of the social sciences—history, economics, political science—and have given promise of original contribution to a particular field of study. It is desirable that they possess qualities of leadership, a spirit of service, and an intention to devote their efforts to the betterment of social conditions through teaching in its broad sense, journalism, politics, or field work.

Appointments may be made for terms of two years. Tenure may, however, be shorter or longer, depending upon the nature of the subjects investigated or upon other circumstances which, in the judgment of the committee, warrant a variation in the length of tenure. It is expected that, ordinarily, a portion of each appointment will be spent in study in Europe.

The stipend will vary according to the circumstances of the appointment. Awards will depend upon those aspects of individual cases which, in the judgment of the committee, most suitably fulfill the purpose of the foundation.

Applications should be made before January first upon blank forms to be obtained from the Secretary of the Amherst Memorial Fellowships, President's Office, Amherst College.

THE FORRIS JEWETT MOORE FELLOWSHIPS

These fellowships, three in number, were given in memory of Forris Jewett Moore of the Class of 1889 by his widow, Emma B. Moore.

1. A fund of fifteen thousand dollars, the income of which is to be used to assist some graduate of Amherst College who has distinguished himself in the study of chemistry while an undergraduate and desires to engage in further study of that subject, preference to be given to eligible candidates whose plans lie in the field of organic chemistry. The beneficiary is to be a member of the graduating class of the year preceding that in which he holds the Fellowship.

3. A fund of ten thousand dollars, the income of which is to be awarded to a graduate of Amherst College who has distinguished himself in the study of philosophy while an undergraduate and desires to engage in further study on that subject. The beneficiary is to be a member of the graduating class of the year preceding that in which he holds the Fellowship.

FELLOWSHIPS AWARDED BY THE AMERICAN SCHOOLS OF CLASSICAL STUDIES AT ATHENS AND ROME

The attention of graduate students interested in the Classics and in Archaeology and Ancient Art is called to the opportunities offered by the American Schools of Classical Studies at Athens and Rome. As the College contributes regularly to the support of these schools, any Amherst graduate may enjoy the privileges of study at either school without charge for tuition and may compete for the annual fellowships which they offer. Further information may be obtained from any classical teacher at the College.

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR FOREIGN STUDENTS

A grant of $5000 a year for five years, beginning with 1931, given by Sherman Pratt, 1927, to provide for the award of a number of yearly scholarships for residence at Amherst, to students from foreign universities.

The purpose of these scholarships is to promote an understanding of foreign cultural institutions through personal contact between foreign students and the students of Amherst.

A fund of twenty thousand dollars was established by Captain and Mrs. W. G. Fitch of New York in memory of their son, Clyde Fitch, of the Class of 1886. The income of this fund is to be used for the furtherance of the study of English literature and dramatic art and literature. The whole or part of this income is usually devoted to the remuneration of an eminent lecturer, who may also take a part in the regular instruction of the College.
